

Nort Natters

Tell us what you want for the future of the North Mainland!

31st October to 17th November

'Nort Natters' aims to hear from folk who live, work and study in the North Mainland.

What's happening?

From 31st October to 17th November, we want to hear from people who live, work, and study in the North Mainland. We want to understand what the communities here want and need, now and in the future. We want to know what you like about living here; what changes would make a difference for you and your loved ones; and how you could help bring those changes to life.

Why do we want to hear from you?

This is your opportunity to shape the future of the North Mainland for yourself, your loved ones, and others who live, work and study here. It's really important that we hear from a wide range of people. Your thoughts really matter to help create a vision for the North Mainland, so please do take this opportunity to get involved in shaping the future of the North Mainland.

How can you take part?

There will be a variety of ways that people of all ages can take part, including in schools and online as well as the events listed here. Please see www.shetland.gov.uk/nort-natters for more information. Your ideas and insights about life in the North Mainland will be summarised and shared later this year, and will inform a range of plans and strategies across the North Mainland in 2023 and beyond.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact: nortnatters@nesta.org.uk
